False alarm sounded

Media reports of serious pollution in Hall's Lake and Mountain Lake have set off false alarms, says Wayne Moore, from the Ministry of the Environment in Gravenhurst.

Moore, who is in charge of the ministry's Cottage Pollution Control Program, says reports of serious pollution problems in the two lakes are unfounded. The information for the stories, published in the Toronto Star and aired on CHAY radio, was gleaned from the recently released report. However, Moore says the study investigated the efficiency of septic systems on the lakes rather than actual pollution counts in the lakes.

While he feels there is cause for concern if the septic systems are not improved in the near future, he says the lakes are not suffering at this time.

Richard Doherty, who is conducting a lake capacity study for Stanhope Township says the stories draw inaccurate conclusions and have caused some alarm with area residents.

"At the present time, Hall's Lake is clean," Doherty insists. However, he admits there is cause for concern that future pollution problems could develop if waste disposal systems on the lake are not upgraded.

The alarm was set off by the ministry's report, which indicates nearly half of the 275 private sewage disposal systems on the lake are "seriously substandard". However, Doherty says this does not mean they are leaking sewage into the lake. Instead, he says these systems are "about to break down" and need repair to avoid problems in the future.

The ministry defines a seriously substandard system as one that does not meet design standards, or is in a state of neglect. "It is not presently causing a pollution problem," however it will not be able to treat sewage flows in the near future.

The study was conducted on four Central Ontario Lakes last year, including Hall's Lake and Mountain Lake. On Hall's Lake, 50 per cent of the systems tested were classified as seriously substandard and 18 per cent were classified as unsatisfactory. Only one system was identified as a direct polluter.

The results of the Mountain Lake study were similar, with 38 per cent of the 260 systems identified as seriously substandard. Another 48 per cent were called unsatisfactory, while one system was identified as a direct polluter.

Doherty agrees there is a problem. "It's something the government has known for quite a while," he said. However, he notes that

Police search

A 21 year old Snowdon Township man was found with minor leg injuries after a lengthy search that involved an OPP canine unit and helicopter.

Mervin Bacon was reported missing in the bush north of Furnace Falls on June 16. OPP personnel, along with a canine unit from Peterborough, searched the area until darkness with no results. The search continued the next morning with 17 police and civilian searchers, the canine unit and an OPP helicopter from Toronto involved.

Bacon was located by the helicopter at about 8 a.m. on June 17 suffering only a minor leg injury.

Constable Ben Manuge was the investigating officer.

40 years of Rotary progress recalled

The International Rotary Club emblem of a large gear wheel aptly signifies continuous work and progress. And in Minden, that gear has been rotating smoothly for 40 years, churning out great benefits in the community, the country and around the world.

On June 18, 1947, under the sponsorship of the Haliburton Village Rotary Club, 23 Minden residents gathered at the Wig-a-mog Inn to form the initial foundation of the club that has provided a generation of service to the community.

While none of those charter members are currently active in Rotary work, a few still live in the area and remember the early work conducted by the club.

Percy Brintnell, a charter member, and the club's first treasurer, says there was an obvious need for a service club in Minden when he first moved here in 1943. "I came here just after the highway went through," says Brintnell, now 82. "There was nothing around here at that time." He said the highway opened the door to progress and the establishment of a Rotary Club helped get the wheels in motion.

Although a recent stroke has hampered his memory, Brintnell clearly remembers the camaraderie the members shared at their weekly meetings at Hart Lodge. He says he is looking forward to the 40th anniversary meeting back at Hart Lodge tonight.

Brintnell moved to Minden from Lindsay, where he worked as a banker. "It was a good time to move up, I thought. The highway was just built and I thought the town would open up soon. And by God it did."

Along with his move here, Brintnell also changed occupations. He opened a bake shop that thrived over the years, serving all of the county.

However, it was his background in banking that made him a perfect candidate to become the club's treasurer. "They told me 'you worked in the bank, you take this job' ". With that he became the club's first treasurer.

The charter meeting at Wig-a-mog was a big event throughout the area, he similar problems exist on most Ontario lakes with cottages on their shores.

Problem not unique

"It's something the government has to address," says Doherty. "That's why the problem was introduced."

Moore says the ministry has found good co-operation from cottage owners since the study was completed. Many cottagers are voluntarily upgrading their systems to meet ministry standards. The ministry has no authority to order cottagers to upgrade their systems unless there is evidence of immediate pollution.

Moore says the emphasis of the ministry's program is on prevention. "We're not here to go charging in like the cavalry after the fact." He says the goal is to identify areas of potential trouble before it is too late.

The Cottage Pollution Control Program, implemented in 1970, is designed to evaluate existing waste disposal systems and enforce repairs to those found unsatisfactory.

Since the study was completed last summer, 17 faulty systems had been corrected on Hall's Lake as were 35 on Mountain Lake. The ministry is now attempting to reach agreements with property owners to have the rest repaired.

Although the ministry has identified there is a problem with the sewage disposal system on Hall's Lake, Doherty disputes the reports of impact on the water. Tests conducted in 1985 proved it is one of the clearest lakes in the area. Using a Sacchi Disc, the ministry found an average depth visibility of 8.1 metres.

Doherty says the clarity of the water is proof that sewage is not leaking into the lake in significant quantities. Pollution enriches the water and promotes algae growth, he says. Therefore, if sewage was reaching the lake the lake would be quite murky.

In an attempt to "put this into perspective" a public meeting will be held on July 9 at the Stanhope Township office at 7 p.m. Doherty

North Road to undergo major repairs

A grant from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications should come as good news to drivers who frequently use Bobcaygeon Road.

Reconstruction of the road north of the Sunnybrook bridge is expected to begin this September with the help of a $380,000 grant under the ministry's Development Road Program.

The grant accounts for 90 per cent of the cost of the work to be completed this year, while Anson, Hindon and Minden Township will pick up the rest.

A similar grant will be budgeted for the following year in order to complete the project.

said two ministry officials will be on hand to answer questions.

Dixie Lee ties Juniors

Minden Dixie Lee Ladies softball team managed a 18-18 tie when they faced the Haliburton Juniors June 16 at the Minden diamond.

The Minden Ladies came on strong in the opening two innings of the game managing ten runs and putting the visitors on the defensive. In the first two innings, the Juniors were only able to bring two runners across the plate and for a time it appeared the Minden squad would have the upper hand.

More parking spaces planned

Some of the matters dealt with at the June 11 meeting on Anson, Hindon and Minden Township Council are as follows:

Visitor's to Sunrise Seniors' Apartments will be able to park their cars without the fear of them being towed away once a new gravel parking lot is built by the Library.

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt asked Parks Superintendent Brian Sisson if something could be done to alleviate the problem of cars being towed away from that area at Wednesday's meeting. Sisson said there should be no problems in installing a new gravel lot. He also noted that additional parking spaces could be added near the Staunworth Apartments by putting a gravel lot near the tennis courts.

Tenders

Council accepted the lowest bid on three Parks and Recreation Department projects and asked for more time to study the tenders on a third project.

The parks department will be getting a new half-ton truck after council accepted the lowest bid from Frontier Motors. The new truck will cost slightly more than the $8,000 which had been budgeted for the purchase. Including tax the Ford Ranger S will cost $8,132.00.

Council also approved the bid from Robert G. McEwen for a structural evaluation of the arena. McEwen, who completed the previous evaluation offered the lowest price at $850.00.

Totten Sims & Hubicki and Associates won the bid to complete an energy conservation study of the arena by putting in the lowest price of $2,500. This bid undercut the next lowest quotation by half.

Regarding quotations for the planned updating of the Minden Park Plan, council deferred its decision until it has an opportunity to look into all three tenders.

Because the lowest bid was offered by a firm which council is unfamiliar with, Reeve Sinc Nesbitt suggested the decision be delayed. He asked Councillors Verne Graham and Bob Sisson to take an in depth look at all three quotations and come back to council with a recommendation.

The lowest bid was put in by Stefan Bolliger Associates at $5,850. This is more than $4,000 less than the next lowest bid. Council will make its decision on this project at the next regular meeting.

Pine Point

Township Clerk Bev Millar was asked to give notice to the owner of an unauthorized dock which has been placed at the public swim area near Pine Point.

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt noted that the township should not be held responsible if the dock or boat is damaged while it is on public property. Councillor Verne Graham agreed, suggesting the township solicitor write to the owner.

Reassessment

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt will try to convince a county council to have a county-wide reassessment undertaken to bring reassessments up to full market value.

The consensus of township council was in favour of having assessments converted to market value at the June 11 meeting. Nesbitt will now try to convince the county to have the Regional Assessment Office conduct an impact study. He noted that there will be much discussion at the county level before a reassessment takes place.

Postal workers not to blame

The rotating strikes being staged by Canada's 20,000 letter carriers is causing a nation-wide uproar, with most of the flack being aimed at the union.

Postal workers are overpaid and underworked, we are told time and time again. They are the cause of the enormous deficit faced by this Crown corporation.

Balderdash!

It's far too easy to lay the burden of guilt for Canada Post's $132-million operating deficit on the workers. In truth, the blame should lie squarely on the shoulder of the corporation's management. They are the ones who undercharge for the service, knowing full well that the government and taxpayers will pick up the tab.

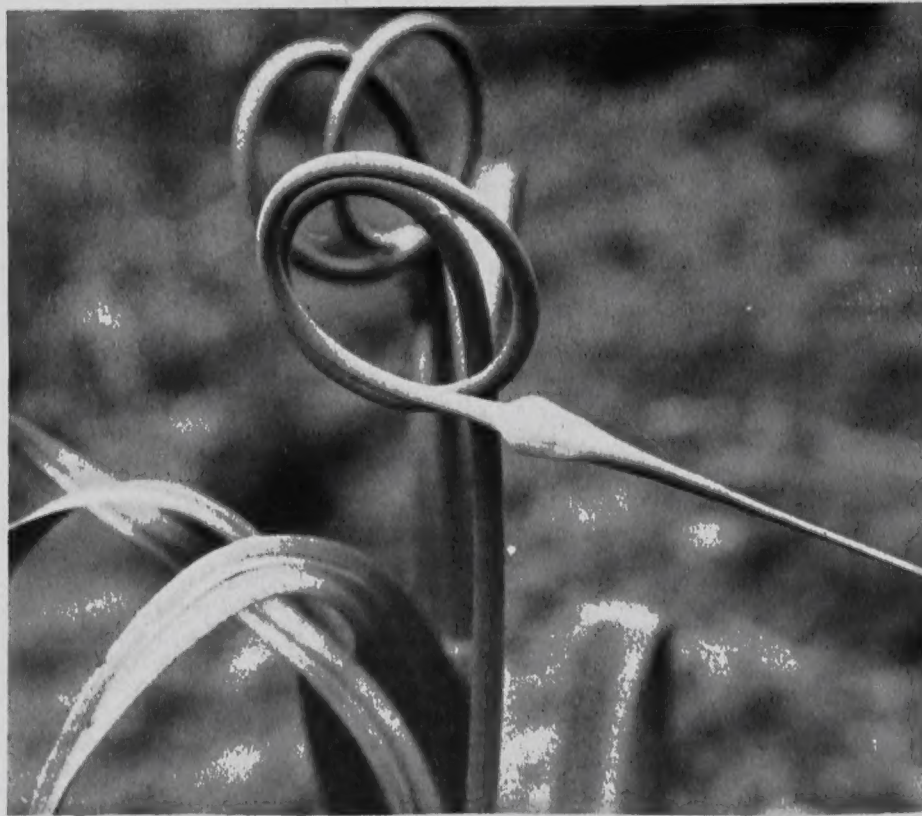

It is time that people realize the postal service is a business. And like any other business, they have to set prices high enough so that they are making a profit.

The present system of subsidizing the corporation only results in an unfair distribution of costs to the users. The companies that are responsible for all the "junk mail" we receive in our boxes each day are making a profit off the undervalued postage fees. Therefore, when the government bails out Canada Post for its operating deficit, the average taxpayer is indirectly contributing to the profits of these companies.

The mere thought of increased postal fees is enough to raise the ire of Canadians. It seems that the real cost of mail delivery is easier to take if a portion is hidden in our tax bills.

In regard to the claim that postal employees are overpaid, we feel this is simply an easy excuse. Why should employees of Canada Post be chastized for wanting to earn a living wage. A letter carrier earns $13.43 per hour, or roughly $28,000 a year. This is not out of line when compared with the wages of most factory workers, government employees or school teachers.

It is time that Canada Post and Canadians, stopped griping at the workers long enough to take a serious look at the real problem, an inadequate and unjust system.

Garlic curls

It could be worse...

- by Arthur Black -

You have bad days, right? Everybody does -- even fun-loving newspaper columnists. But I have a mantra that blows bad days right out of the water. Whenever I feel a bad day coming on I stop whatever I'm doing, take a deep breath and say: "It could be worse. I could be the Prince of Wales."

I know, I know. The guy makes a zillion pounds a minute. He gets to ride in tinted-glass limos, share a bathmat with Di and who can remember the last time he picked up the cheque for a meal? I realize all that, but I still wouldn't trade places with him. Because for all the princely perks of his position, there is one sad fact that makes that monarch's life pure hell on velvet: The British press is on his case and the newshounds won't leave him alone.

The British gutter press has to be read to be disbelieved. It makes scandal sheets on this side of the water look like Unitarian monthly bulletins. The U.K. tabs regularly print lurid lies and doctored photos that would have a Canadian editor thrown in the slammer. And they are not dainty about it...The editorial stance of tags like the London Sun and the Daily Mirror display all the grace and subtlety of a British hooligan soccer fan after nine pints of bitter.

Like most cowards, the British tabloids relish soft, juicy targets. Who better than a young heir to the throne, prevented by his station from fighting back?

And so Prince Charles became one of their favourite sitting ducks. When he gave up shooting grouse in Scotland they made fun of him for being a wimp. When he experimented with vegetarianism the papers had a field day, intimating that he was not only off meat but off his nut as well.

The guy can't win. When he's loving and deferential to his wife at public functions, the newspapers hoot that he's henpecked. Presumably if he slugged Diana on the steps of Buckingham Palace or dragged her around on a dog leash, he'd get better press.

The thing that seems to bug the British tabloids most about Prince Charles is a characteristic that you'd think they'd find attractive in a public figure -- his thirst for adventure. Prince Charles has a penchant for visiting out-of-the-way places. This is a character flaw? Apparently to Charles's ink-stained critics it is. They found fault with him for taking a trip to the Kalahari desert, and even for a painting holiday in Italy.

They really had a feeding frenzy last week. Someone at the palace leaked the news that Prince Charles had made a "secret visit" to a remote island off the coast of Scotland where he spent three days planting potatoes, digging ditches and herding sheep.

Sounds harmless enough, right? Not to guardians of normalcy such as the ever vigilant London Sun. The next morning, its front page headline read: A LOON AGAIN, HERMIT CHARLES PLANTS SPUDS ON REMOTE ISLE!

Perhaps it was a slow news day.

It's my personal opinion that the hacks of Fleet Street have never forgiven Prince Charles for having a superior sense of humour. Back when he was just a pup, the prince confessed that he was an unabashed fan of The Goon Show. The Goon Show was perhaps the most inspired half hour of insanity ever to hit the BBC airwaves, served up by comedy geniuses Harry Secombe, Spike Milligan and Peter Sellers. The Goon Show laid the foundation for subsequent comedy hits like "That Was The Week That Was", "Peter Cook and Dudley Moore" and "Monty Python's Flying Circus." Goon Show humour was fast, cheeky and very witty -- not crude and obvious like the more popular British Music Hall variety. Perhaps the popular press took offense at a "Royal" who laughed at jokes they didn't understand. In any case, the tabloids set their sights on Charles and they've been taking potshots ever since.

If its any consolation to the prince, he's not the first Charles in history to suffer from a bad image. True, there was a Charles the Great and a Charles the Wise, but there was also a Charles the Foolish, Charles the Simple, Charles the Fat and Charles the Bald. The royalty of Spain even threw in a Carlos the Bewitched.

On the very good chance that the British press is once more giving Prince Charles a hard time today...and on the slightly more remote chance that his secretary slipped this edition of The Times into the Prince's morning mail, we offer one final royal anecdote. It comes, fittingly enough from yet another blueblooded Charles -- King Carl XVI Gustav of Sweden. When told (at the age of 7) that he would one day become King, little Carl blurted: "I don't want the job. I want to be a taxi driver."

I have a feeling that the Prince of Wales could empathize with that.

Much of the pleasure of meadow or woodland walks comes from being able to identify the many plants along the way. Besides, if the birds are concealed by the dense foliage, as they have been since mid-May, one can always stoop and look at the plants; they will wait to be studied.

On recent walks, although I've watched with regret the fading leaves of the trout lily and the trilliums turning pink before they wither, I have found lots of new flowers to admire and signs of spectacular bloom to come. Already next spring's blooms are being prepared; the hepatica, the flowers long since gone, has produced pleasing rosettes of distinctively-lobed leaves. These leaf clusters, on which next year's flowers will bloom, give the plant a vital head start in the spring so that it can bloom early before the leaf canopy obscures the spring sun.

Thrusting up from the clumps of violet leaves, are the thin lances of the common goldenrod. Occasional patches of broader, sharply-toothed, egg-shaped leaves indicate a clump of zigzag goldenrod which will form its blooms, not at the end of the stalk, but in the leaf axils.

Carpeting the floor of more open woods, just now, are the mauvish-pink flowers of the wild geranium and the showy white single flowers of the Canada anemone. Along hydro cuts great clumps of false Solomon's seal flaunt terminal clusters of creamy flowers as delicate as snowflakes. And glowing in the cool green of the groundcover is a cousin of the anemone, the creeping buttercup, its flowers like small poppies. In places it is

With all due respect to Bill Domm and to those who support his position in favour of capital punishment.

I most vehemently disagree on two counts - as a human being and as a Christian.

I disagree as a human being because what Mr. Domm is in favour of is very simply state-ordained premeditated, first degree murder. he would say (and this is the only point that we agree on) that deterrence is not the issue. He is right, for capital punishment has not and never will prevent someone from taking another's life.

What do you think about...

The postal situation?

by Bill Kulas

In 1981, a 42 day mail strike caused chaos throughout the country. Last week Canada Post and its 20,000 letter carriers started their rotating strikes.

The strike is legal in that the workers have a right to strike and give up their wages, which by the way, a letter carrier now makes $13.43 an hour, and the Post Office Corporation has the right to lock out and if it so wishes, hire on new workers to keep the mail moving.

From what I have read and heard, the main reason the letter carriers are striking is in order to obtain job security even though the workers are fully aware that the Crown Corporation has a deficit of $132 million which somehow must be eliminated.

Most Canadians are delighted with the hard-line tactics Canada Post and the government are pursuing. Needless to say the letter carriers are not. What started as a peaceful strike has recently turned into a barroom brawl type of atmosphere where a bunch of hotheads are taking command.

Last Wednesday in Montreal, angry strikers broke into a postal station in Montreal overturning furniture, throwing mail around and trampling on it. Three strikebreakers and a security guard suffered injuries and $10,000 damage was done. Union leaders would be well advised to take control of the situation or risk losing the remaining credibility that they hold with the Canadian public.

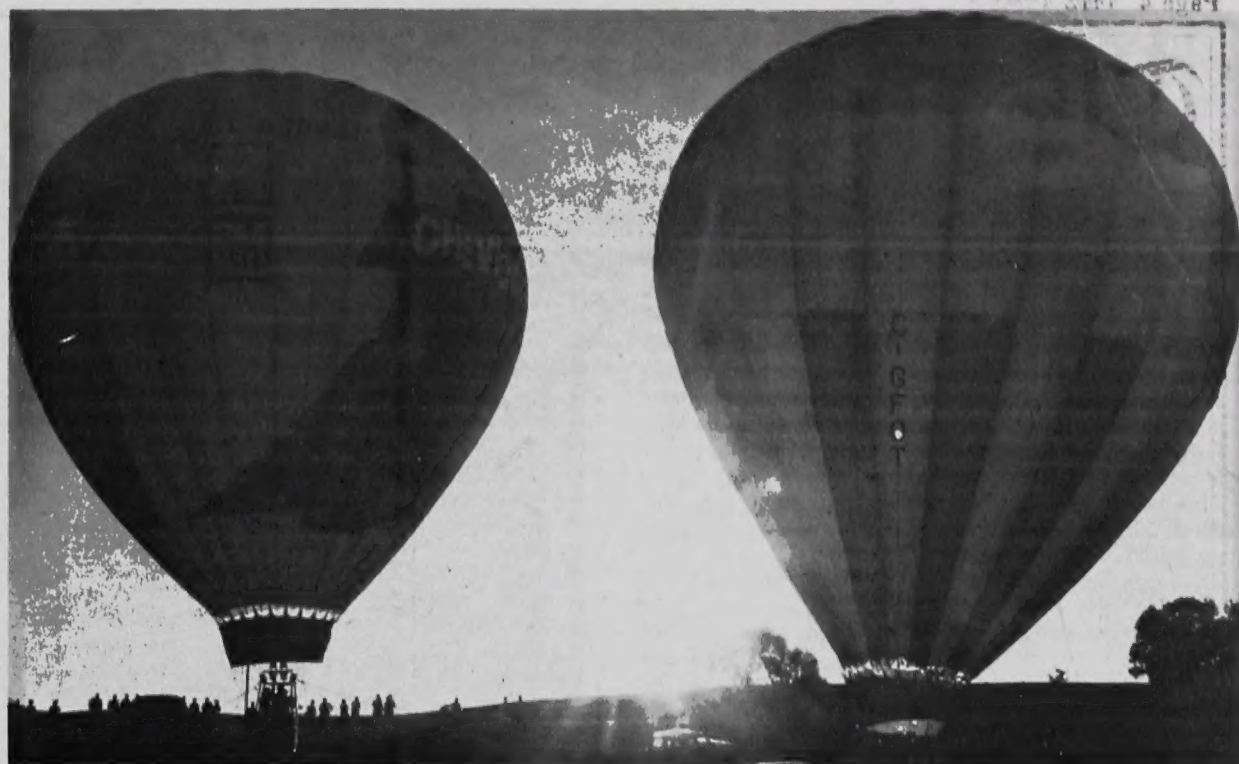

For years various groups have tried to persuade the government to strip Canada Post of its first-class mail monopoly and give private contractors free rein to move mail during the strike.

That may well happen in the future. Over the last 15 years, during times of postal disruption, just look at the number of courier service companies that have sprung up.

The Postal Office has been flooded with offers to replace strikers even though nerves are tense about the possibility of violence on the picket lines. One temporary worker stated in the Toronto Star last week, "I'm a great admirer of Margaret Thatcher, she did a lot of good for England by smashing some unions that needed it, and I think Canada could use a bit of the same. Canada Post is a very bitter conversation piece, it's an example of a lot of things that are wrong with our country."

Whatever the outcome, let's just hope the strike comes to a peaceful settlement without the senseless hooliganism and vandalism. What do you think?

Beautiful balloons...Two balloons were raised at the Bee Hive Golf and Country Club on Sturgeon Lake, June 17 for a preview of what many will see if they visit the Fenelon Falls area for the Kawartha Challenge in July. A special media night was held in which media people, sponsors and pilots were assigned to the 23 balloons participating. Since the event is expected to attract thousands to the area, spokesmen for the Kawartha Challenge are seeking accommodation for people as far north as the Minden and Haliburton areas.

County a priority for Health minister

- by John Eakins, MPP -

As many of you will have heard by now, I and my colleague the Honourable Murray Elston, Minister of Health recently announced new funding for ambulance services in Haliburton County.

The Ministry has allocated additional funding of $260,000 annually to expand emergency health coverage in the Highlands.

The Haliburton Ambulance Service will receive $150,000 annually enabling it to better serve the area. Similarly, the Minden Ambulance Service will receive new funding of $110,000 a year to improve the services available to the area.

During the last two years, Mr. Elston has been working hard to improve health care in Ontario. Last year, he ensured that the Highlands would be better served when he made funding available for 18 chronic care beds.

Now, the Minister has once again made Victoria-Haliburton a priority on his list.

While many people worked with me to secure this funding, I particularly want to thank Wayne

Wood, Dwight Thomas and Rob Luke for their perseverance and assistance.

One final note with reference to provincial funding. Thanks to the Honourable Ed Fulton, Minister of Transportation and Communications, the Township of Glamorgan will be able to enjoy better roads.

My colleague has supported the Township's worthwhile request to overhaul one of the municipality's trucks and the Ministry will provide a grant of $6,700 to undertake this project.

Exploding flowers

almost impossible to talk without treading on a plant. Jewelweed or touch-me-not is springing up everywhere, proof that its seedpots exploded successfully last fall. The hummingbirds will feast at the orange blooms this fall.

Another less welcome plant that appears everywhere in the woodlots of southern Ontario is garlic mustard. With its cluster of small four-petalled white flowers it is an attractive plant. However, it is an introduced species whose vigorous growth chokes out more delicate native plants like sweet Cecily. Those of you who have been to Point Pelee recently may remember the wood near the tip swarming with garlic mustard.

In the shrubby understory along the edge of the wood and along hedgerows, there is promise of fall harvests in the bloom of the wild fruits. Riverbank grape is just opening its small greenish flowers; chokecherries bear delicate drooping heads of lacy flowers on the end of new growth.

The constantly changing bloom in the woodlot marks the passage of the seasons in a bittersweet way. These are only a few of the plants you may find blooming now. Each time you visit the woods there will be something different to study.

Highlights from agriculture census

- by Bill Scott, MP -

On June 3, 1986 at the same time as the Census of Population and Housing, Statistics Canada undertook another of its largest tasks, conducting the 1986 Census of Agriculture.

The data was released exactly one year later. Some of the main highlights from this wealth of information are:

1. In 1986, farm families -- a group that includes individual or family holdings, partnerships and family corporations -- controlled 99.1% of farms and contributed 94.6% of aggregate gross farm sales.

2. According to the 1986

Census, farmers are becoming older, reversing a trend to younger farmers during the 10 years from 1971 to 1981. In that decade, the proportion of farm operators under 35 years of age had grown from 15% to 25%. However, the proportion of farm operators in this age group fell to 19% in 1986. In addition, the proportion of farmers 55 years of age and over increased to 34% from 31% in 1981.

3. Cropland, which includes crop area and summerfallow reached 103 million acres in 1986, an addition of 2.5 million acres since 1981. Cropland increased in western Canada and Newfoundland while it decreased in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes.

4. The total capital value of farms, which includes the value of land and buildings, machinery and livestock, has dropped 16% since 1981. This is particularly significant when viewed against the 128% increase in capital stock over the five years from 1976 to 1981.

5. While interest payments account for 11% of total farm operating expenses, 39% of farmers reported having no interest expenses. Among small farmers, that is those with sales of less than $10,000, the number reporting no interest expenses was much higher - 69%. Only 11% of operators with sales over $250,000 made the same claim.

6. Canadian farmers are fertilizing and spraying more land. In 1986 the area fertilized increased by 25% over 1981. Spraying for weed control was up 51% and spraying to control insects was widespread as in 1981, mainly due to the grasshopper infestation in the Prairies. Of the total improved land in 1986, 50% was sprayed for weeds, 10% for insects and 50% was fertilized.

7. Farms reporting cattle have continued to decline. There were 16% fewer in 1986 than in 1981 and 37% fewer than in 1971. The decline in farms with milk cows was most dramatic in Western Canada where the number dropped 74%. Canada's cattle inventory is down 21% from its peak in 1976 and is 11% lower than in 1981. Milk cow numbers fell 18% between 1981 and 1986 and the beef cow inventory was down 8%.

Agriculture is of vital importance to Canada's economy. The comprehensive and wide-reaching results from the Census of Agriculture will help all of us to understand the changing nature of this most important industry in our own province and in the rest of the country.

Charter members recall early days

remembers. "By God, the place was full on charter night," he said. "Pretty well every Rotary Club was represented. Everyone around made an effort to get out to the new club."

Maurice Windsor, who is also a charter member, says the Rotary was one of the first service clubs to be established in the area. He said there were seven or eight Minden residents who were already members of the Haliburton club and they welcomed the start-up of a club here.

"I always enjoyed my time with the Rotary," said Windsor, 86. He said one of his favourite aspects of being a Rotarian was visiting other clubs. "Most every week for luncheon, Rotary clubs meet worldwide." Whenever he would make a trip to Florida, he would stop in on a number of Rotary meetings along the way. "I liked to visit the clubs. There are two or three in Tampa. I always went to them."

Probably the biggest project undertaken by the club in its early days was planting trees to be sold each year at Christmas. "Outside of the Rotary Carnival and games of chance, the tree planting was probably the biggest project." With 10 acres of land near Archer's Flats and another 100 acres on Peterson Road, the club used to plant close to 8,000 trees each year. "Every year we used to take the school kids and have a bee pruning the trees," he said. "Everyone chipped in, planting seven or eight thousand trees a year."

Ironically, Windsor said the club made very little profit off the sale of Christmas trees. "We made a little money selling the trees," he said, "but the real money was made when we sold the property." After several years of running the tree-planting operation, he said the club realized it was not making much money from it and they decided to sell the land.

Windsor dropped out of Rotary about ten years ago "because I didn't figure I was carrying my end of the load." He said he misses the regular meetings and the friends he had in the club and is looking forward to tonight's 40th anniversary meeting.

However in the third, Minden was held scoreless, while the visitors scored six runs.

Minden managed five runs in the fourth, two in the fifth and a single in the sixth for the 18 point edge. However, the Juniors were able to nibble away at the lead taking a single in the fourth, six in the fifth, and three more in the seventh to secure the tie.

On the mound for Minden was Ann Hewson while Debbie Atkins pitched for the Juniors.

The Minden ladies play their home games every Tuesday evening at the community diamond.

Last week I attended the opening of Vince and Rose Connaughan's Stedmans Store in Haliburton. It certainly is a welcome and important addition to have the store back in full swing in the County. It has been a Phoenix rising from the ashes of last August's fire to the new and spacious store that opened last week. In fact it will be a mall with Stedmans, Family Fashions and Frost Insurance on the first floor, leading to another level below with various businesses. This should be a valuable and important addition to the business community not only of the Village of Haliburton but the County as well. So on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, I would like to welcome back Vince and Rose and their staff. It's nice to have you back.

You should mark your calendars to remind you that on the weekend of June 27, and 28th the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a Jet Ski Competition. This is a free event. Please bring your family and friends to Rotary Park in Haliburton for an entertaining weekend of Jet Ski races and demonstrations. It is hoped that this event will become an annual affair, part of a nationwide tournament for Jet Ski competitions.

Also, please note that June 30 is the deadline for paying your 1987 membership dues. If any members dues are still outstanding please contact the Chamber office immediately. This is necessary so that your membership in this important organization continues without interruption.

Minden Rotary celebrates 40 years

The Minden Rotary Club is part of an international organization with over one million members in more than 22,000 clubs worldwide.

Rotary was founded in 1905 by Paul Harris, a salesman in Chicago. Finding himself "alone" in a big city, he sought out other individuals in a similar situation and organized a regular series of meetings hosted by a different member each week. This change in host and location each week led to the name Rotary.

To establish a cross-section of the community as members, it was decided that only one individual from each profession would be accepted as a member in any particular club, a tradition that continues, with some modifications, today.

While the initial purpose of Rotary was to foster social contact, the organization quickly grew into a service organization, providing assistance to individuals and the needs of the community in general. One of the first projects undertaken by the Chicago club was the construction of public washrooms in that city.

Rotary has expanded beyond these beginnings and now is a service organization spanning the globe. Rotary is involved in international projects designed to improve the health and living standards of individuals, especially those in third world countries. The latest effort in this regard is a program known as Polio Plus. Rotary International has committed its resources to the immunization of children throughout the world against the dreaded crippling polio, and five other diseases which ravage the world's children.

Clubs in developed nations will be providing the major fund support for this effort, while Rotarians in third world countries will assist in the promotion and delivery of the medicine within their country.

Other aspects of international service include a student exchange program in which high school age youths spend a year as guests of a Rotary Club in a foreign country, learning about the nation in which they live and informing their hosts of their own country. Minden Rotary club has been involved in this program for the past nine years. At the moment, Lori Saunders of Minden is finishing her year in Australia and the club expects to welcome its incoming student Thierry Mignon from Belgium in early August.

The Minden club also supports and participates in the Group Study Exchange in which young professionals are offered an opportunity to visit a foreign land for a five week period to gain an understanding and appreciation of that country. The club, in turn, has played host to similar visiting delegations, most recently a group from Nigeria.

Through Rotary International, the club also supports an international scholarship program, provides assistance for ongoing third world development projects and is directly involved in the material support of a school and hospital in the Dominican Republic. The support for the latter project comes through the collection of outdated, but useful, hospital supplies, medical equipment, book and educational supplies, which are flown to the Dominican Republic through the co-operation of the Canadian Armed Forces.

While Rotary International is deeply committed to these and other international projects, the Minden club has also been actively involved in efforts to improve its home community. The Minden club has made a major contribution toward the purchase of a new x-ray machine for the Minden Hospital, provided the funds for the construction of the tennis courts in Minden, Rotary Park on the Gull River, paving of the arena parking lot, various improvements to the Minden Community Centre complex and numerous other projects which benefit all area residents.

The club sponsors the annual Snowarama for Timmy which raises funds for the provincial Easter Seal Society. The Minden club is also a major contributor to the Five Counties Children's Centre in Peterborough where children from our area with various handicaps can receive treatment from rehabilitation experts.

The club has also been involved in many less spectacular, but nonetheless vital, services to the community. The Minden Rotary Club has provided financial assistance to the elderly, youth, children's organizations, community groups, and individuals who, through misfortune or poverty, are unable to meet their own needs.

In meeting these needs of the community, the club has not lost sight of one of the original ideas behind the first Rotary Club. Each week at the regular meeting and by working together on various fund-raising projects, we share the fellowship and camaraderie which Paul Harris sought and found, 82 years ago.

Chairman of the Haliburton Hospital Expansion Fund, Barb Dawson accepts a cheque for $12,156 from Minden Rotary Club President Jack Brezina. The amount represents the cost to furnish one room in the new continuing care wing at the Haliburton facility. Members of the club who were on hand for the presentation were, from the left, Jerry Rome, Bob Wiltshire, Clayton Hummel, Gary Chapman, Bob Austin, Paul Sisson, Ed Pergolas, Don Hall, Gino Ziorjen, Bill Obee, Cec Rowe, Bob Wells, Don Burch, Gil Scott and Alvin Hawley.

However, when he states that what is at issue is a 'redressing of a balance', i.e. a life for a life, his argument turns to just plain foolishness. A life for a life, or more accurately, a death for a death does not redress any balance, it just adds another death to a world that is sick and tired of dying. Capital punishment is not justice, it is retribution. Let us not confuse the two Mr. Domm.

Retribution will never take the place of far-reaching changes in the parole system and the reforms needed to make sentencing offenders more consistent, clear and just, not for society's sake alone, but also for the sake of victims of the crime.

Reforms in sentencing and parole are much more worthy of our tax dollars than a travelling committee designed to establish the best ways how and why certain people should be exterminated.

As a human being, capital punishment is a repulsive and barbarian method of dealing with repulsive and barbarian crime.

As a Christian, capital punishment represents the very opposite of what the Christian good news is.

First of all, the Christian good news offers hope, restoration and peace for the victim's family. Rage, anger and helplessness can be some of the many responses to having a loved one's life suddenly and meaninglessly taken away from them. The question is, how do you deal with that rage, anger and helplessness? Do you kill in return?

A Christian response to the complex feelings of the victim's family is, neither easy, cheap or "pie in the sky". However, healing is possible. It may be difficult, painful and life-long, but it is possible.

Capital punishment cheapens healing with revenge. It may be satisfying at first, but the feeling is temporary and leaves a bitter aftertaste: revenge never brings the murdered one back.

Secondly, capital punishment contradicts the essence of the Gospel: all have sinned and all can be made whole.

Capital punishment denies the hope that all can be made whole - its basic premise is that some are beyond hope.

Christian faith categorically states that none are beyond hope.

Not even Clifford Olson!

Finally, I am opposed to capital punishment because the government, (and by extension, ourselves as Canadians) by endorsing this means of dealing with capital crime, is playing God. We are taking on our shoulders the right to take another human being's life.

As a Christian and as a human being, I cannot give life and I have no right to take it away. I will not support the actions of a government that deems it necessary to appropriate for itself a right that properly belongs to God.

Busy summer for kids

If you haven't noticed too many kids dragging their feet through the streets with nothing to do lately, you can thank the Minden Recreation Committee. They have put together Summer '87 to give kids aged seven to fourteen "something different and exciting to do this summer."

Adele Wray, a Recreational Leadership graduate from Sir Sandford Fleming College in Peterborough and Corry Ziorjen, a Haliburton Highlands Secondary School student were hired by the Recreation Committee to co-ordinate the program.

"We design programs to give kids with nothing to do an activity," says Wray. "It keeps them off the streets and gives them a chance to play with someone their own age."

Summer Fun '87 is broken up into three types of activities. The first type, for kids aged seven to twelve takes place on three afternoons a week at a cost of $5.00 per child for the summer. It involves a different theme each week and will range from adventure games and initiative tasks, to fitness and creative arts.

For kids aged seven to fourteen, sports is the name of the game. For $1.00 per sport, kids can play baseball, soccer, badminton, floor hockey and take tennis lessons. Participants must bring their own gloves, racquets and sticks, though.

The third area of activity will be offered through Summer Fun dances. For an admission charge of $2.00 per dance, kids in Grades seven through ten will be able to attend dances at various points in the area during the summer.

Boaters charged

In other news from the Minden OPP, failure to follow basic safety regulations while operating boats has resulted in two vessel operators being charged after a boating accident on Devil's Lake in Lutterworth Township.

The accident occurred on June 12 at approximately 9:55 p.m. when vessels collided while going through the narrows.

Neither boat had the required running lights. Damage to the boats is estimated at $400. A passenger received minor injuries.

Charged with failing to display running lights contrary to the Canada Shipping Act are Fred Parker, 61 of Thornhill and Don Mann, 35 of Minden.

Constable Mike Legge investigated.

Acid rain report

The following statistics on acid rain were gathered at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station at Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada. There were three precipitation events in the latest reporting period.

-on June 7, 10 mm of rain, pH 4.2, from Illinois, Michigan and Lake Huron.

-June 9, 7 mm, pH 4.6, northwestern Quebec, central Ontario.

-June 11, 7 mm, pH 3.9, from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and southern Ontario.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Twist and shout. Move it all about. Fitness is in. Fatness is out.

Correction

The Times incorrectly reported that Julie Hartin of Dysart Township was charged with failing to yield the right of way following a two car accident June 5. The charge was in fact laid against the other driver involved in the incident, Jeffrey Chamber of Guilford Township. The Times apologises for this error.

Snell tosses four hitter

After two rained out games last week against Lindsay, the Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers finally hit the field on Sunday, June 14 as they travelled to Lindsay to take on the Town Rental boys.

This was possibly the best game of the year as it was a real pitcher's duel from start to finish. The Hustlers won the game by the score of 4-0 as Jack Snell tossed a four hitter for his third win of the year.

On the home side, Ted Moynes threw a six hitter and Town Rental gave up two unearned runs for the loss. The big batters for the Hustlers were Barry Shaw and Rick Hartwick, each with a double and Colin Newell with two singles.

This also sets up a rematch on Thursday, June 25 as the Hustlers host Lindsay Town Rental at 8:00 p.m.

On Thursday night at home, the Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers moved into first place as they downed Bobcaygeon by the score of 9-6.

This moves the Hustlers into a tie pointwise with Town Rental and Bobcaygeon for first place. But because of playing fewer games, hold the best record percentage wise.

Andrew (Newfer) Burk was the big gun at the bat going 3 for 3 with a triple, double and a single. Dwight Sisson and Bob Johnston each had two doubles. Jack Snell was the winning pitcher for his fourth of the year. Again, don't forget the big game this Thursday night in Minden as the Hustlers take on Lindsay Town Rental with first place on the line.

53 years without missing a day

Sam Little missed three days of school this year. That's right, he came down with the chicken pox and was absent from the roll call for three consecutive days.

Sam is a bright student, though, and was soon able to catch up on the work he missed. His brief absence did not affect his grades, as he graduated near the top of his Grade Four class.

So why has this information made it to the pages of this newspaper? Well, Sam is the youngest of five in the Little family. Five very healthy children. So healthy in fact that, combined, they have gone through 53 years of school with perfect attendance.

Alex, the eldest of the family, graduated from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School this year without missing a single day of school since he started kindergarten. Derek, the next eldest, will be going into Grade 13 in September with a perfect attendance record, while Larry and Tanya boast similar records heading into Grade 10.

Other than the "good care from my mom and dad," Alex says there is no secret formula to the family's health. If the truth were told, they have found themselves a little under the weather from time to time, but it seems this is always when they are on holidays, says Alex.

While the family's record was broken this year, Alex says he is confident they can start over again. "We're a little disappointed, but what the heck."

And now that Alex has graduated, his father will begin reap some of the rewards that go hand in hand with the family's good health. This summer Alex plans to go to work for his father's business. Obviously Mr. Little realizes the savings to be had by not having to pay sick benefits.

Solway off to Jamboree

A high school project is turning into a real-life experience for 16-year-old Dean Solway as he prepares to embark on a month long visit to Australia for the 16th World Scouting Jamboree.

After completing a school project on Australia, the Grade nine Haliburton Highlands Secondary School student thought he might like to visit the country of kangaroos and koala bears. So, when his Scout leaders asked for volunteers to attend the World Jamboree, Dean did not hesitate to step forward.

However, before Dean sets sail for Australia, he has a lot of ground to make up in the way of fundraising. The estimated cost of the trip is $3,295, much of which he and the local scouts have already raised through various activities.

Last weekend, during the Ride for Sight festivities at the fairgrounds, the scouts went to work collecting discarded bottles and cans to return to the store for their deposit. In addition to the money raised here, Dean received a Wintario grant while the Ontario Provincial Police Association has provided him with two uniforms for the Jamboree.

Dean estimates that he has only a few hundred more dollars to raise before he is free and clear to go on the trip. He anticipates holding down a summer job to cross this final hurdle.

In order to qualify to attend the jamboree, participants must be at least 14 years of age, have completed two full years of Scouting, and have achieved the Voyager, Gold Citizenship, and Gold Camp crests. With seven years of scouting under his belt, Dean meets all these requirements.

Barring any unforeseen problems, he will set off to Australia this December for almost a full month of activities.

The jamboree itself is an enormous event, running throughout all of 1988. With the theme of "bringing the world together" more than 13,000 people are expected to attend, including about 1,000 Canadians. From this region, Dean will be accompanied on the trip by six Sea Scouts and two Venturers.

He said he is really looking forward to the trip. Upon arrival in Australia, he will spend his first ten days, including the Christmas holidays, with a host family, just south of Sydney. After this he will spend 10 days at the site of the jamboree, camping out with other scouts and participating in an array of activities. The final week of his trip will again be spent with the host family before his return home on January 17.

Preventing strokes

by Stephen Dawson, M.D.

Rather than dealing with a specific topic this week, I thought I would report briefly on a number of items of current interest.

Stroke

Stroke can be prevented through the control of high blood pressure and by early recognition and treatment of the stroke-threatened individual.

A stroke always causes damage to the brain. Brain cells depend on an uninterrupted blood supply for their function. Without oxygen and glucose from the blood, the cells perish. A stroke interrupts that supply either because an artery becomes blocked or because an artery ruptures.

Stroke is the number three killer after heart disease and cancer in North America. It is proportional to age and even though its incidence is declining, the population is aging. Its cost in Canada approaches $1 billion annually. Although stroke may occur for many different reasons, the predisposition to stroke is generally the same as that for heart disease. Since arteries can become blocked or ruptured because they become "worn out" by high blood pressure, followed by diabetes, elevated blood lipids (fats) and inheritance factor and probably smoking.

Some individuals have warnings of impending catastrophe. They suffer minor strokes or TIAs (transient ischemic attacks) during which they may temporarily lose vision in one or both eyes, experience speech difficulty or experience transitory weakness, a lack of co-ordination or a numbness in arms or legs.

These brief episodes should alert an individual to seek medical advice and to start treatment to avert a possibly massive stroke with its attendant devastation.

Cocaine

In studies on rats at Texas A & M University, researchers have found that cocaine can speed up the aging process. The findings, reported in Asian Medical News indicate that regular cocaine use can upset the chemical balance of the brain. Such irreparable nerve cell damage can lead to an earlier development of nervous conditions usually associated with old age, such as Parkinson's disease.

Dr. Stephen Dawson is a Medical practitioner serving the Minden community who writes a weekly column on health matters for The Times.

Hello Readers!

Please do not forget our tea and Bazaar July 2. We are glad to see Jean Taylor home from the hospital, and much improved in health.

Ladies from the ACW came with afternoon tea on Thursday. It was real nice. We were pleased to see Arnie Wright as she was helping to serve the delicious food.

On Friday night Bill Payne and the Deacons came and entertained us. It sure was nice to hear and see them again.

The movies last Monday were Musical Ride and Snowbirds. They were very enjoyable.

Hyland Crest welcomes another new resident, Maron Rose. She is well known here and we hope she will like it here.

Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Russell came to see their sister Ada Allcorn, who is still quite ill. Her sister from California was here also. Sunday evening church service was conducted by Rev. J. Burgess and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson. On Tuesday morning we had Rev. Moll from Minden United Church.

Ray and Marie Jenkins were here Friday, Saturday and Sunday to see Finnie. They brought Mary Bagshaw to see her mother. Ray plays the piano for us every time he's here. It's really lovely for us. Thank you Ray!

Lola Prentice tells me they had a lovely trip to see her old home at Vankleek Hill. She was educated there and left at the age of 17. She is now 83 and found a great many changes have taken place over the years, but the old home and the United Church are still in use. The town is about the size of Fenelon Falls. It is near Lancaster, Ontario. She met quite a few people who remembered her family.

Visitors for Dora Dawson this past few days were Mr. Ray Dawson and Mrs. Mac Buchner of St. Thomas and Evelyn Gibson of Hawk Lake.

Winnie Barnum had Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron from Peterborough take her out to dinner.

I was pleased to have Mervin Brohm and his daughter Sarah call on me for a short visit.

Ina McGuire's daughter Marjorie came to spend a while with her. Sorry to report Alice Todd is in the hospital. Hope she will be well soon.

All for this time.

"How much richer we should all be if we paid attention to both sides of life."

Moore's mark fiftieth

It was yesterday, June 21, that Bill and Irene Moore of Minden officially marked their fiftieth wedding anniversary, however, a week earlier at their home on Prince Street, the couple were the guests of honour at a reception marking the occasion.

Under sunny skies the couple were feted by many friends, neighbours and family who travelled from various points across the province to share the afternoon. Those who were unable to attend, telephoned the couple with their congratulations.

The location of the celebration is the home in which the couple have resided since being married. Bill, who recently took up residence at Hyland Crest, built the home a few months after the couple were wed.

The couple were married in Toronto by Irene's father, Reverend George Miller Clayton, who served the Minden community at the United Church. Irene relates how the couple had eloped from Minden and travelled to Toronto. They called her father to tell him of their plans to marry and her insisted on joining them there to officiate.

The couple's entire family was in attendance for the celebration except for one son who is at sea with the Canadian Navy in the Pacific. Also taking part in the festivities were nine grandchildren.

In addition to the personal greetings offered by the well-wishers, the couple received congratulations from the Governor General of Canada, Ontario's Lieutenant Governor, the Prime Minister and MPP John Eakins.

"It was a delightful afternoon," Irene commented, "both Bill and I are very appreciative of the efforts of our family and the good wishes from so many people."

Centre plans yard sale

by K. Hodgson-McMahon

Mark your calendars to attend the Giant Yard Sale on June 27 starting at 9 a.m. and concluding at 3 p.m. It will be held in front of the Drag River Municipal Building (opposite Emmer-son Lumber) in Haliburton.

This is the first time that the Drop-In Centre has held a Yard Sale. The funds raised will be used for program expenses and maintenance. The Ministry of Community and Social Services allots the Drop-In Centre 100% funding for salaries and benefits but only $.70 for every dollar spent on hydro, rent, maintenance and program expenses. Therefore, the Centre has to do some fund raising to support itself. In the past this has been done with an Activity Membership Fee and weekly 50-50 draws. We are still doing this, but as we are growing, so are our expenses. So please plan to attend and make this a very successful venture.

The Yard Sale Committee is headed by Marjory Peel and has fifteen very eager members. We are asking for donations of items to sell and that they be brought to the Centre on June 24, 25 and 26. We received from St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church a generous donation of their "treasures" left over from their sale June 16. Thank you for your thoughtfulness in helping our sale to be bigger and better.

Branch 129 news

by Gerald Irish

Another week has come and gone and your Branch is still very busy. Since the Legion business year runs from June to June, we are now in the midst of our annual audit. We have been very busy trying to book rooms for the September District Drumhead as well as sending out advertising about Bluegrass. Every Legion in Ontario has received or will receive Bluegrass posters. Many campsites are already booked for Bluegrass and the response so far indicates a great year for the festival.

What a time for an ice machine to break down! The old machine that has seen service for, God knows how many years, finally died. The Executive of your branch held a special meeting and agreed to purchase a new one. With the summer coming, we can't do without it.

The phone in our home is very busy with Legion business but the most unusual requests we receive are for rentals of the new Seniors' apartments. After purchasing the land and acting as the organizing, sponsoring body, Branch 129 no longer is involved with the apartments. Calling Executive members of the Legion about rentals is senseless and futile.

Last Saturday Joan and I attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Nelson and Freida Handy. It was a grand time. Once again the Legion Ladies Auxiliary did a magnificent job of catering the meal. Congratulations to the Handy family and special congratulations to the anniversary couple.

IN MEMORIAM

GARTSHORE: In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather Loran, who passed away June 24, 1983.

In a quiet little cemetery, Where the gentle breezes blow, Lies the one we loved so dearly, And lost four years ago. Your resting place we visit, And put flowers there with care, But no one knows the heartache, When we turn and leave you there. Sadly missed and remembered by Mildred, Vern and Marlin, Craig, Margaret and Jason, Gary, Pat, Chris, Gary Jr., and Sean.

PROCENKO - In loving memory of our dear son and brother Michael. We think of you today with love

As we have often done We feel again the bitter blow That news should have come They say that time heals everything But we knew it isn't so because it hurts as much today as it did nine years ago. Sadly missed by Mom Dad and Lisa
